

<http://wthitv.com/2016/04/07/wabash-valley-wellness-initiative-receives-100000/>

Published: April 7, 2016, 3:36 pm

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (WTHI) – A program promoting health in the Wabash Valley receives another year of funding.

The Pomeroy Wellness Program received another $100,000.

Anthem Blue Cross Blue Shield gave the money to the program for a second year. The program promotes healthy lifestyles through nutrition, exercise and many other programs.

Saint Mary-of-the-Woods President Dottie King says it's an important program for our area.

“Our health is very, very important,” King said. “It’s so easy to take for granted, and make decisions today that are going to have a negative or positive impact on your future.”

The program is operating under the Chamber of Commerce’s Better Health Wabash Valley initiative.

Here are the community partners participating in the initiative:

- The Maple Center for Integrative Health
- Union Hospital
- Terre Haute Children’s Museum
- Vigo County YMCA
- Vigo County School Corporation
- Hamilton Center
- Terre Haute Regional Hospital
- Ivy Tech Community College